Allow participants to make a cup of coffee or green tea. Gather them around and hand each participant 5 pieces of blank paper and a pen.

Main Activity: Write (20 min)

One of the exercises we can do to start the day fresh and clear our mind is a free writing exercise.

Please use your pen and paper, and write down anything and everything you are thinking about right now. It can be about anything: your dreams, what you did yesterday, how you are feeling this morning, whatever you want. The only rule is you should write without stopping, free as a bird.

You have 18 minutes for this exercise. Enjoy!

Final Activity: Mindfulness (20 min)

We will partake in a guided meditation to bring us light and relaxation.

We will relax the muscles one by one, from the legs up. Imagine a ball of light floating above your belly, send happy thoughts to it. Watch it grow. Let it sink in and fill your body with warmth from the inside. Whenever you will need support or to be reminded of goodness, feel free to use the ball of light from within.

Thank each participant and bless them with a lovely, happy day!
